COACHING STAFF

Rhonda Farney graduated Summa Cum Laude—only a teenager at the time—from Howard Payne University. She then coached basketball and track and taught English at Goldthwaite High School for 10 years, followed by a two-year stint at Ozona High School. While at Goldthwaite, she was the only girls' coach on staff, coaching the seventh, eighth, junior varsity, and varsity basketball teams. At the varsity level, her teams won 10 district championships, four bi-district championships, two area championships, and made four regional appearances. Her team won 20 or more games each season, and nine players received college scholarships. She was selected Central Texas Coach of the Year four different times and received the TABC Milestone Award in April 1990 for 300 wins, in 1993 for 400 wins, in 1996 for 500 wins, in 2000 for 600 wins, in 2004 for 700 wins, and in 2008 for 800 career varsity wins. In 1998, she was selected the District VI (TX, NM, LA, OK, MI, AR) Converse Coach of the Year and Fox SW's Coach Who Makes a Difference. Recently, she was named the National Federation's Section 6 (TX, NM, CO, AZ, OK, LA) Coach of the Year. She is a former President of Texas Association of Basketball Coaches and Texas Girls Coaches Association. She was named 1991 TGCA Coach of the Year and was voted to coach the TABC and TGCA All-Star games in 1993.

On the national scene, in April of 1996, she traveled to Philadelphia as the assistant coach for the Nike-WBCA All-American game seen on ESPN2. In April of 2003, she was named the head coach for the Phoenix-WBCA Presented by Nike All-American game seen live on ESPN2 and played in front of 10,000 fans in the Hartford, CT Civic Center. She served four years on the WBCA and National Federation Coaches Association Board of Directors and served a term on the National Federation Basketball Rules Committee. She chaired the USA Basketball Cadet and Youth Committee, where she helped select the players and coaches for the Summer Youth Development Festival. The summer of 2001, she was one of two high school coaches who served as floor coach for the Junior National Trials in Colorado Springs, CO. Most recently, she was the assistant coach for the 2005 Youth Development Festival, where her team won the gold. She served on the Hall of Fame Committee for TABC from 2004-2008 and was the chair the last two years. In January of this year, she was honored as the Citizen of the Year by the Georgetown Chamber of Commerce.

Presently, Coach Farney is in her twenty-second year at Georgetown as the head basketball coach and girls' athletic coordinator. On November 30, 2007, Coach Farney won her 800th varsity game versus Liberty Eylau in an overtime thriller. Today, more than 40 young women, whom Farney has coached, are coaching or preparing to enter the coaching profession. She has coached 58 players who have gone on to play collegiate basketball. She has lectured at numerous Texas basketball clinics as well as clinics in AK, AL, CA, CO, FL, GA, IA, IN, MO, NY, OH, PA, and WY. Coach Farney's career record is 877-254.

COACHING STAFF

When people think of Georgetown girls' basketball, they think of stability, tradition, and excellence. For 22 years, junior varsity and varsity assistant coach Kellye Richardson has epitomized that ideal.

Richardson joined Farney in 1988 after a three-year stint at Canyon High School in Canyon, TX. Her junior varsity teams have won thirteen district titles, one co-championship, second three times, and third twice. Coach Richardson's teams have an overall four-year record of 111-6, including a perfect 29-0 season in 2008.

Richardson played basketball and ran track for Pampa High School. In 1980, she accepted a scholarship to play basketball at Amarillo Junior College, finishing her career at Texas Tech University in 1984. She was a student assistant for the Lady Raiders in 1985 and graduated with a BS in Health and Physical Education. Richardson takes great pride in teaching the fundamentals of the game. In 1992, 1993, and 1995, Georgetown won the TABC award for best three-point shooting percentage in the state. In 1998, the varsity team won the TABC free throw shooting award.

After the 1991 season, she was selected to assist in the coaching of the TABC All-Star game, and the following summer she was named the TGCA Sub-Varsity chair. She served on the TGCA Board of Directors for two years. In 1999, she was named the National Federation Interscholastic Coaches Association Assistant Coach of the Year for Texas and nationally. In 2004, she was named TABC Assistant Coach of the Year.

Richardson became the head girls' cross country coach in 1993. Since then, her teams have won 12 district championships, made 14 regional appearances as well as nine state appearances, finishing second in 1992 and 1993, third in 1996, sixth in 1991, 1994, 1997, 1999, and 2002, eighth in 1998, and seventh in 2003 at the state cross country championships.

Richardson wore #22 as a basketball player at Texas Tech University, and that jersey number was retired a few years later after Richardson graduated. Richardson graciously let Texas Tech wait to have the jersey-retirement ceremony until Sheryl Swoopes was through wearing that number.

Doug Hunt, 1998-2010

The freshman blue and varsity assistant coach, Doug Hunt has a major tradition in the family. The son of Lubbock ISD assistant athletic director Melynn Hunt and Garden City coach Darrell Hunt, Doug has been on the Georgetown staff for eleven years.

The former honor student at Jacksboro High School was a metro-area finalist for Fellowship of Christian Athlete of the Year. As an all-around senior athlete, Hunt garnered all-district honors as a quarterback on the area football team and guard on the playoff basketball team. He also competed in the state track and field meet in the 4x400 meter relay. He attended Texas Tech University and graduated from Eastern New Mexico University with a BS in Kinesiology. For two years Hunt coached a very successful Lubbock-area AAU team. He has also been on staff at the TABC Camp of Champs, Texas Tech Lady Raider Camp, Tarleton Texann Camp, Oklahoma Sooners Women's Camp, USA Developmental Camp, and in local camps at Jacksboro, Lubbock High, Lubbock Monterey, Lubbock Estacado, Slaton, and Georgetown. In 2009, Hunt was the head coach for the Austin Toros All-Star game.

Hunt joined the Lady Eagle coaching staff in 1998. Since, his teams have finished as district champions or runners-up eleven times with a combined record of 241-60. He is in his third year serving as the head boys' cross country coach. Hunt's 2007 cross country team finished the season district champions, third place at regionals, and seventh place at state. In 2008, his team finished second in district and sixth in regionals, and this year they finished third in district and fourth in regionals.

Matt Taylor, 2009-2010

Freshman white team and varsity assistant coach, Matt Taylor is in his first year on the Lady Eagle basketball staff. A 2000 graduate of Round Rock High School, Coach Taylor was a four-time varsity letterman in baseball, winning the 5A-state championship in 1997. He furthered his baseball career, playing at McLennan Community College from 2000-2002. Next Taylor was a member of the University of the Incarnate Word baseball team from 2002-2004, being named to the 2004 Division II regional all-tournament team.

Coach Taylor brings a winners' mentality to the Lady Eagle program as well as a maturity beyond his years. He also teaches history and coaches softball.

PROGRAM HISTORY

Georgetown High School Lady Eagles have not literally been good forever, but they have done their best to make it seem that way. They made it to the state tournament in 1978, they made it to the state tournament in 1996, and they made it three times in between. They won a state title in 1979, and they have become a perennial playoff entry. Not bad for a program that died in 1956.

As hard as it is to believe now, for 18 years from 1956 to 1974,

That 1977-78 team beat Bridge City, 44-34, in the regional championship game and advanced to the state tournament, where they eventually lost to state champion Canyon, 77-52.

That set the stage for the most successful season in the history of the program. One year later, Coach Tonya Toles (Lott) took the helm and, with the help of assistant coaches Davidson and Judy Hill, led the team to a 3A state championship, defeating Dumas and Sweeny.

In 1982, Georgetown split district games with Del Valle, which featured future University of Texas superstar Bev Williams, before losing to the Williams-led Cardinals the school that has become synonymous with girls' basketball did not have a program because it was "too expensive and physically demanding." That hiatus was sandwiched by excellence. The tradition began in the late 1940s and 1950s when Coach Esther Weir produced Lessie Lee Cole and Alice "Cookie" Barron. Barron, described as the "Babe Zaharias" of Georgetown, later went on to become an All-American for the Wayland Baptist Flying Queens and was a member of the American team that defeated the Russians in the 1957 World Games.

Soon after Barron graduated from Georgetown, the girls' basketball program was disbanded in 1956. The coach was Miss LaVern Clifton, and Paula (Wheeler) Doerfler remembers that the school board voted not to play girls basketball the summer before her freshman year. "The school board said that girls' basketball was too expensive and too strenuous," Doerfler recalled. While Georgetown refused to let girls play basketball, Barron, one of the most famous graduates of the school, went to Colorado where she became a pioneer for high school girls' athletics. Georgetown began the process of catching up in 1974. At a time when many school districts were being forced into action by Title IX Legislation, Georgetown Superintendent Jack Frost was ahead of the times.

Frost resurrected the girls' basketball program, vowing to make it a first-class program. He made Mike Brown the first high school coach and Paula Doerfler and Sue Davidson the junior high coaches. With renewed interest, a year later Georgetown hired Natalie Gunter and began the true quest to put Lady Eagle basketball back on the map.

In 1976, the Lady Eagles tangled with powerhouse Waco Midway and lost 104-19. Two years later, the resilient locals beat Midway, 41-39. As much as any game in the program's storied history, that contest sent the message that Georgetown was back from the dead.

in the regional finals. Coach Toles (Lott) led the Lady Eagles to yet another state appearance in 1983, where they lost in the semifinals to Corpus Christi Calallen.

Three times in the mid-1980s, Cathy Fuller (Sefcik) coached teams that made brief playoff appearances before falling to Little Cypress-Mauriceville, Waco Richfield, and McKinney, respectively.

Meanwhile, the little country school was growing quickly. Georgetown was moved into Class 5A in 1988, leading to inevitable growing pains. The program struggled, and in 1988 Georgetown made a move to revive its sagging fortunes.

This time, the solution was hiring Rhonda Farney and assistant Kellye Richardson. Once again, the program was resurrected.

"In 1989 and 1990, we beat teams we should not have and lost to teams that we should have beaten," Coach Farney said. However, before long, the Lady Eagles were simply beating everyone.

In 1990, building on the theme "The Tradition Continues", Georgetown defeated a Round Rock team led by Nicole Collins (Louisiana Tech and Angelo State star), then, on the final night of the regular season, beat the 13-0 Waco Lady Lions and their star Benita Pollard, who later played for the University of Texas. Much as the victory against Waco Midway in 1978 sparked the program's rebirth, those two wins led to much bigger things in the years that followed.

Building on the previous season, the 1991 Lady Eagles, dubbed "The Dream Team", returned to 4A and returned to the playoffs. With three returning starters (Desiree Warren, Kristen Posey, and Catherine Parnell) and a host of district champ junior varsity players, the team found itself in District 25-4A with an old, familiar foe Waco Midway. Midway returned four starters from a state runnerup team, including all-state player and University of Texas signee Judy Holcomb. Something had to give, and it was Midway. Georgetown split with the Pantherettes in district, and then defeated them in the regional finals for a trip to the Final Four. Georgetown lost to Dallas Lincoln in the state semifinals, 45-49.

In 1992, with three remaining starters (Carly Curtis, Posey, and Shawna Ford), the Lady Eagles won District 25-4A and breezed through the state playoffs, which set up a first-round state tournament match-up between the locals and the Kaufman Lady Lions. Georgetown, hoping to "Fulfill the Dream", played at the Erwin Center before over 14,500 fans, the largest crowd ever to watch a Texas high school girls' basketball game. After beating Kaufman, the Lady Eagles lost a heartbreaker at the buzzer to Canyon Randall, 42-43.

In 1993, Georgetown suffered through a rebuilding year, which meant they merely made the playoffs. Looking to "Take Charge" with only one returning experienced letter winner, sophomore Suzanne Koy, and a number of talented newcomers (Whitney Reier, Kerrie Edgar, and DeAnn Porfirio), the team turned in one of its most remarkable seasons ever when it defeated eventual state champ Austin Westlake and later Belton in a district playoff game. Representing District 25-4A, the Lady Eagles fell to LBJ in bi-district.

"Armed and Ready" in 1994, the Porfirio-led Lady Eagles won three tournaments and advanced to the regional semifinals before losing to Tulos-Midway at the buzzer. The loss was a miserable ending to what had been a sparkling season.

After four years and four playoff berths in 4A, the Lady Eagles began "Courting Tradition" in 1995 when they returned to 5A. The team, led by three returning starters (Natalie Tucker, Koy, and Reier), began the season with a 19-game winning streak before falling to Canyon in the Midland Byron Johnson Christmas Classic. The team was nationally ranked as high as fifth in the USA Today poll. The team simply began a new streak that carried them into the 5A playoffs for the first time ever. Georgetown eventually fell to North Mesquite in the regional semifinals before a record crowd at Baylor's Ferrell Center. The 1995 team was led by seniors Erin Elsasser and Koy.

With three returning starters (Tucker, Reier, and Amy Johnson), the 1996 Lady Eagles were one of the closest knit teams in years. Basketball was "The Tie That Binds" and with Cari Lynn Stridde and Rhonda Ooten joining the three returnees, Georgetown won two tournaments, the District 14-5A title, and the Region II-5A crown. The Georgetown Lady Eagles, seasoned by 13 games against state-ranked teams, took No. 1 Alief Elsik to the wire in the state semifinals before losing, 55-59.

Mindful of all the tradition, Georgetown looked forward to "Celebrating the Past, Present, and Future" in 1997. With only three returning letter winners (Stridde, Ooten, and Claire Swinbank), the 1997 Lady Eagles were one of the least experienced but most athletic teams in the recent history of the program. Christina Edgar and Erin Hall joined the above, and they won the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament and placed third in the Arlington Classic and Lindale Hoop Heaven before winning yet another district title. Georgetown lost to A&M Consolidated, 45-50, in the area round of the playoffs.

The 1998 season was more of the same for the "Leaders of the Pack". With three returning starters (Ooten, Hall, and Swinbank) and six returning letter winners, the athletically-gifted Lady Eagles went 27-7 before losing in the regional semifinals to Longview, 52-57. Before that, the team went 10-0 in District 14-5A, won the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament for the sixth consecutive year, and beat Tomball and Cy-Falls in the playoffs.

"Taking None from Nobody" in 1999, the Georgetown Lady Eagles with two returning starters (Dionne Brown and Anna Hartzell), senior Deah Breithaupt, and sophomores Jennifer Doherty and Paige Prince, played one of the toughest preseason schedules in the history of the program. After winning the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, Georgetown traveled to Missouri for a tournament. The team won district and defeated Cy-Fair in area before falling to Klein in the regional quarterfinals. The team ended the season at 20-14.

In 2000, Georgetown was "In It to Win It", and winning they did as they amassed a 26-7 record. The team won the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament and the prestigious 32-team Las Vegas Holiday Classic. Georgetown won another district championship before falling to Spring Westfield, 50-53, in area.

With just two returning starters (Doherty and Prince), the 2001 Lady Eagles were intent on "Burying the Competition". The team was loaded with youth. Returning letter winners, sophomores Erica Kovach and Cayce Turner, added experience to the program. New varsity sophomore players Tori Alloway, Megan Gooch, Calli Ebeling, and Stephanie Sullivan, and junior Amanda Hall, brought athleticism and a winning junior varsity basketball tradition. The youthful Lady Eagles came in second in the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, losing in overtime by two points to Corpus Christi Carroll. They played in the San Antonio Northside

Invitational, losing in overtime in the championship to San Antonio Taft. The Lady Eagles went to Florida and participated in the Naples Holiday Shoot-Out. They beat the host team, Barron Collier, and lost to two-time Pennsylvania state champion and Naples Shoot-Out champion Cheltenham in overtime. The Lady Eagles went on to be District 13-5A Co-Champions. They lost to The Woodlands by one point in area play and ended the season 26-7.

Without a senior on the team, in 2002 Georgetown returned three starters (Alloway, Kovach, and Turner) and seven letterwinners (Ebeling, Rickita Fisher, Gooch, Christy Hubbard, DeAnna Knox, Hanna Pool, and Stephanie Sullivan) on a team that had "Money in the Bank". The young team went 28-5, defeating St. Michael's Academy in the finals to the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, winning consolation at the Kroger Holiday Classic, in Pickerington, OH, and winning District 13-5A with a perfect 10-0 record. They defeated Klein Forrest, 63-60, and lost to Spring Westfield, 36-43, in the regional quarterfinals.

"The Difference in Playing and Playing Well...70-30" was the creed of the 2003 Lady Eagles. The team returned all five starters (Alloway, Ebeling, Gooch, Hubbard, and Kovach) and four letter winners (Fisher, Knox, Pool, and Turner) along with sophomores Emily Richardson, Leah Starr and freshman Jennifer Thomas. The team lost Turner to a knee injury before the season started and Gooch two games into the season. She did not return until January 3, 2003, some 20 games later. Georgetown defeated rival Austin Westlake, 51-31, before losing in overtime to USA Today #3 nationally-ranked Fort Smith Northside, AR, 64-65, in the finals of the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament. Next, they played five games in less than 44 hours in the prestigious Air Force Rotary Lone Star Invitational in San Antonio, going 2-3, losing to nationally-ranked Germantown Academy, PA, 38-48, and Riverdale Baptist, MD, 36-48, before falling at the buzzer to Houston Madison, 51-52. The Lady Eagles went 3-1 at The Nike Tournament of Champions in Phoenix, AZ, losing to nationally-ranked Oakridge, TN, 43-57, and defeating nationally-ranked Oakland Catholic, PA, 50-48, and nationally-ranked Collins Hill, GA, 58-47, and Cibola in Yuma, AZ, 55-49. Georgetown went 14-0 in District 14-5A before defeating Spring Westfield, 50-39, in Area and Cy-Fair, 44-35, in the regional quarterfinals. At the Ferrell Center in Waco (which was 70 miles from Georgetown), Georgetown defeated Plano, 63-37, in the regional tournament semifinals and Rockwall, 45-42, in the finals. In the state tournament semifinals at the Erwin Center in Austin (which was 30 miles from Georgetown), Georgetown defeated Fort Bend Hightower, 50-34, before bowing out to Duncanville, 27-47, in the finals in front of over 10,000 fans. The Lady Eagles ended their season on the last day for any basketball team to play, March 1, with a record of 33-6.

"Tradition Never Graduates" was the motto for the 2004 Lady Eagles. The team was forced to "reload" since they returned no starters and only four letter winners (Pool, Richardson, Starr, and Thomas). The team played a demanding schedule, beginning the year with Duncanville, the team that had bested Georgetown in the state finals the previous year. Georgetown lost to Duncanville, 38-56, and then went on to defeat San Antonio Taft, 46-42, in the finals of the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament. On a roll, Georgetown won all four games at the Lady Bulldog Holiday Classic in Las Vegas, NV, defeating then #9 nationally-ranked hosts Centennial, 64-52. The Lady Eagles ended District 14-5A in a 3-way tie for second with Stony Point and Westwood. They defeated Stony Point, 60-42, in the district playoff before defeating Copperas Cove, 37-34, in bi-district and falling to Cy-Fair, 68-36, in the area round of the state playoffs. Georgetown ended the season 24-10.

In 2005, Georgetown was true to their motto, "Operating with Heart". The team lined up and played the best competition in the nation, returning three starters (Kathryn Briggs, Jessica Ochoa, and Starr) and four letter winners (Briggs, Katie Dachowski, Ochoa, Starr, and Thomas). Others joining the team were Jessica Abernathy, Lauren Davis, Kristen Ibarra, Kelsey Kniffin, Shae Seagraves, and Devin Sewell. The Lady Eagles defeated Lubbock Estacado, 60-42, for third place in the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament and defeated nationally ranked Narbonne, CA, 49-36, and Plainview, 44-41, before falling to state-ranked Brock and Mansfield Summit in the San Antonio Lone Star Rotary Air Force Invitational. Next, the team traveled to New York where they defeated Manhassec, NY, and Mary Louis Academy, NY, before losing to the eventual national champions, Christ the King. On a roll, the Lady Eagles returned home to rack up a 13-1 record and the District 15-5A championship. During district play, the team won five games by three points or less. The team defeated Temple in the area game, 58-43, before being defeated by Pflugerville, 32-43, in the regional quarterfinals.

In 2006, Georgetown added to the girls' basketball legacy by "Building a BLUEprint for Success". That success consisted of playing the toughest preseason and district schedule in the history of the program. Returning three starters (Briggs, Sewell, and Thomas) and four additional letter winners (Abernathy, Davis, Kniffin, and Seagraves), Georgetown lost in overtime to Pflugerville Connally in the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, 38-40, went 3-1 in Delaware's Diamond State Classic, losing to Columbia Central, TN, 48-57, and then defeating St. John's Vianney, NJ, 51-41, Boone, FL, 49-35, and Oxford, PA, 46-39. The team was District 15-5A tri-champions, which included two routes of Cedar Park, 52-32, and 55-39, a come-from-behind win on a last second putback by Devin Sewell to defeat Pflugerville, 50-49, and a 14-point last quarter comeback against McNeil, 53-51, behind Kathryn Briggs' 15-point fourth quarter contribution. Georgetown defeated Westlake, 43-23, in bi-district, defeated the Woodlands, 54-40, in area, defeated Austin Bowie, 46-36, in regional quarterfinals, and lost to eventual state runnerup Rockwall, 34-43, in the regional semifinals.

2007 saw the Lady Eagles "Reeling in the Competition". The team sharpened their teeth on the hardest competition in the state and nation. Returning three starters (Briggs, Nutter, and Seagraves) and four additional letterwinners (Kniffin, Erica McDaniel, Lorin Pereira, and Aubrey Sewell), the first four games of the season were a roller coaster. They lost to state-ranked Waco Midway and Marble Falls, and then to Dripping Springs before defeating then #1 state-ranked Bryan. They went 4-1, defeating San Antonio Warren in the silver-division of the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, and 2-2 in the Deep South Classic in Atlanta, GA. The team was District 14-5A runnerup, which included two pivotal wins over Cedar Park, 49-45, and 53-49, and a come from behind win on a last second three pointer by Pereira to defeat McNeil, 44-43. Georgetown lost to Harker Heights, 43-49, in bi-district.

In 2008, Georgetown returned three starters (Kniffin, Nutter, and Sewell) as well as three letterwinners (Crystal Atwood, McDaniel, and Pereira). Others joining the varsity were junior varsity championship members Jherica Binder, Kayla Burnett, Brittany Frasier, Katie Rudolph, and Tory Schlaht and freshmen players Brianna Bogard, Christina Kime, and Kathryn Tolbert. Each player helped to "Play Basketball the Georgetown Way--It's Showtime". The team won three out-of-four overtime games as well as winning the Sweet Sixteen Tournament in Monterey, CA, and runner-up at the Winnsboro Classic. Surprising everyone but themselves, they split with Pflugerville and defeated the rest of the district teams to win a District 14-5A co-championship. Next the Lady Eagles defeated Killeen Shoemaker, 39-33, in bi-district, and derailed top ten Conroe, 42-41, in area. Atwood hit a three pointer to send the Spring Westfield game into overtime before losing in the quarterfinals, 52-57. Georgetown ended a marvelous season at 28-6.

In 2009, Georgetown returned one starter (Atwood) as well as four letterwinners (Bogard, Burnett, Tolbert, and Crystal Wills). Others joining the varsity were undefeated junior varsity championship members Iesha Collins, Alexa Harpe, Kathryn Lawhon, Kijrsten Olson, Abbey Pennington, Natalie Polivka, and Jirah Rodriguez along with sophomore Amanda Bizzell from a district championship freshman team and freshmen Emily Johnson and Taylor Heine. Team members chose the 300 theme: "Give them nothing. Take from them everything... This is Georgetown", and they played with a warrior-like mentality. Georgetown won the silver bracket of the Jack Frost Tournament and third in the Winnsboro Classic. Next the team traveled to Owensboro, KY, where they shocked the home team Owensboro Catholic, 73-46, and finally lost in the finals to Henderson Co., KY, 49-55. After graduating nine seniors and five players who are now playing in college, Georgetown opened District 16-5A on December 9, 2008, against a veteran Cedar Park team and won, 47-42. Georgetown went on to post a 13-1 record and be District 16-5A Co-Champions with Cedar Park. Next the Lady Eagles defeated Cy-Woods, 51-43, in bi-district before losing to Spring Westfield, 50-56, in area. Georgetown posted a 26-7 season mark.

In 2010, the Lady Eagles decided on the theme "With One Lap to Go" and sped off to a 31-4 season. Georgetown returned four starters (Atwood, Bogard, Pennington, and Wills) as well as five senior letterwinners (Harpe, Lawhon, Polivka, Rodriguez, and Olson) and one junior letterwinner (Bizzell), and one sophomore letterwinner (Johnson) as well as veteran senior managers and student trainer (Shelby Bouffard, Kensley Toungeate, and Ryan Roe). Georgetown won second in both the gold bracket of the Georgetown Jack Frost Tournament, losing to Westbury Christian, 52-60, and in the Winnsboro Tournament, losing to the host school, 48-58, as well as third in the Nike Tournament of Champions in Phoenix, AZ, by defeating Chandler, AZ, 57-55 on an assist from Atwood to Pennington on the buzzer. That win revved up their engines and began an acceleration that led them deep into the state playoffs. The team went 14-0 in District 16-5A play while collectively all four teams posted an unprecedented 45-0 record and district championships at every level. Next in the state playoffs, Georgetown defeated Cy-Woods at Brenham in overtime, 57-53, Lufkin at A&M Consolidated, 49-42, and Cy-Falls at Hearne, 47-43, before losing to Bryan, 45-50, in the regional tournament on the Baylor University campus.

...WITH ONE LAP TO GO

By GALEN WELLNICKI

It's often said -- almost as a truism -- that familiarity breeds contempt. But in the world of the Georgetown Lady Eagles, familiarity that bred love and respect was the adhesive in one of the most successful basketball seasons in school history.

A team with seven seniors, two juniors, and a sophomore performed as a single entity with a common purpose. They checked their egos at the locker room door and, in so doing, surpassed what many observers felt they were capable of achieving.

Veteran Lady Eagles coach Rhonda Farney felt that these elements allowed her team -- many of which had been together since their elementary school days as Little Dribblers -- to enjoy the journey as much as the final destination.

"They played with a great deal of joy," Farney said. "That translated into poise, confidence, and aggressiveness. They were very unassuming. They didn't go out of their way to project that they were good, but they were.

"For them, it was just like coming to work everyday -- practice or game. They worked hard, were unselfish and genuinely loved each other."

Of course, the results of the journey also were very rewarding:

* The Lady Eagles advanced to the Region II-5A semifinals where they came up short in a 50-45 battle with Bryan after marching past Houston Cypress Woods, 57-53, in overtime; Lufkin, 49-42; and Houston Cypress Falls, 47-43, in the opening rounds of the state playoffs.

* GHS ran the table with a 14-0 record in District 16-5A, beating consensus pre-season favorite Cedar Park twice, 45-35 and 47-35. They outscored the opposition by an average of 22 points a game, allowing an average of just 30.9 points a start. They held 10 of their 14 district opponents to 35 points or less.

* The 14-0 record by the varsity was part of an incredible run of 45-0 on all levels of 16-5A competition. Coach Kellye Richardson's JV and Doug Hunt's Freshman Blue also posted 14-0 marks, while Matt Taylor's Freshman White were 3-0 in district.

* The Eagles were 31-4 for the season with non-conference victories over two state champions -- AAA winner Liberty-Elyau and AA titlist Brock. They were runners-up in their own Jack Frost holiday tournament and at the Winnsboro tournament and placed third in their bracket of the Nike Tournament of Champions in Phoenix, Arizona.

Individually, the honors rolled in:

* Junior guard Briana Bogard and senior post Crystal Atwood were named to the Texas Girls Coaches Association All-State team and also were selected to the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches all-region team. Bogard was selected as the Central Texas Player of the Year on the Austin American-Statesman's All-Centex Team and also was the MVP in District 16-5A, while Atwood and sophomore guard Emily Johnson was voted to the first team by league coaches. Senior guard Natalie Polivka and senior post Abbey Pennington were second team selections, while senior post Kijrsten Olson and junior post Amanda Bizzell earned honorable mention laurels.

* There was heart-felt recognition for the Lady Eagles' other three seniors -- Alexa Harpe, Kat Lawhon, and Jirah Rodriguez -- by their coaches and fellow players-- for their unselfish efforts to make the team better both on and off the court. Appreciation also went to a strong student support staff headed by senior managers Shelby Bouffard and Kensley Toungate and student athletic trainer Ryan Roe.

"Few teams have perfect district records, win 30 games in a season, and reach the regional tournament," Farney said after the regional lost to Bryan. "These are the things they remember along with what people will remember about them. . . . It was their last game together for most of a group of girls who have been playing together since Little Dribblers -- such a special group of students and athletes."

They also will be remembered as individuals -- Bogard charging up the court with the ball or setting the defense, Polivka picking an opponent's pocket slicker than Fagan in "Oliver," Bizzell showing an opponent how to play physical D, Johnson smoothly floating around the court and launching her arching long-range shot, Olson -- seemingly all long arms and legs -- taking the ball to the hoop, Pennington grabbing the big rebound underneath, Atwood -- the three-year starter -- doing what her team needed to be successful and Harpe, Lawhon and Rodriguez helping coach their teammates when they weren't on the floor.

It was a genuinely human team -- a family -- one that could smile and bring smiles to its loyal followers from Sun City to their homes and to the halls of Georgetown High School.

TRAVEL HISTORY

In 1997, Georgetown traveled to Gillette, Wyoming, where they saw ice and snow, went skating on a frozen pond, visited a working coal mine, saw Mount Rushmore, and experienced Devil's Tower.

Before Christmas in 2000, Georgetown played in the Naples, Florida, Daily News Shootout. In addition to playing some great basketball teams, the Lady Eagles walked the beach looking for star fish and sand dollars as well as experiencing the wildlife of the Florida Everglades.

During the Christmas holidays in 1998, Georgetown played in the Missouri Sho-Me Classic in Springfield, Missouri. In addition to playing some high-caliber basketball, the team took in the local sites which included the world-famous Bass Pro Shop.

After Christmas in 2001, Georgetown flew to Columbus, Ohio, to play in the Kroger Lady Tiger Classic in Pickerington, Ohio. Touted as the premier girls' prep tourney in the nation, the competition was tremendous. The players experienced great play and lots of snow and managed to win consolation.

Prior to Christmas in 1999, Georgetown flew to Las Vegas, Nevada, for a prestigious 32-team tournament which sported talent from Alaska to Florida. The team managed to see a Las Vegas show, experience the exotic animals and volcano eruption at The Mirage, take in the spectacle at Caesar's Palace, see the sinking of the ship at Treasure Island, ride every roller coaster in town, visit Hoover Dam, and win the tournament.

During exams in 2002, Georgetown played in the Nike Tournament of Champions in Phoenix, Arizona, where they went 3-1. The team stayed in luxurious resort accommodations in Phoenix and traveled to Yuma, Arizona located deep in the Mohave Desert.

TRAVEL HISTORY

On December 26, 2003, Georgetown flew to Las Vegas, Nevada, where they went 4-0, defeating Centennial, the #9 team in the nation. Georgetown is 9-0 in Vegas in two trips.

On December 28, 2004, Georgetown was defeated by Christ the King in Queens, New York, the #1 team in the nation, as the Lady Eagles had the opportunity to play with the 30-second clock. They rode the subway, visited Ground Zero, toured Statton Island, and viewed the Statue of Liberty, marveled at the Rockettes at Radio City Music Hall, ate at Carnegie Deli, and were awed by the sight of the New York skyline and the Empire State Building.

Diamond State Classic in Delaware was the Christmas 2005 destination where Georgetown went 3-1. In Philly, they went to the Rocky steps, Geno's for cheese steaks, and Independence Hall. In DC, they saw all the monuments, the Holocaust Museum, the White House, the Capitol, Arlington National Cemetery, and Georgetown University.

During Christmas 2006, Georgetown traveled by charter bus to Atlanta, Georgia, where they competed in the Deep South Classic. The team went 2-2 against some of the toughest competition in the nation while taking time to eat at the famous Varsity, visit Stone Mountain, and enjoy the Georgia Aquarium.

Christmas 2007 was spent in Seaside, California, at the Sweet Sixteen Tournament, where Georgetown went 4-0. They defeated the hometown Seaside Lady Spartans, 64-27, in the finals. In San Francisco, the team toured Alcatraz, the Golden Gate Bridge, Chinatown, Lombardi Street, and Fisherman's Wharf.

The Christmas tournament of choice was held in Owensboro, Kentucky, where Georgetown went 3-1, losing in the finals to Henderson County, Kentucky. In Nashville, Tennessee, the team visited the Country Music Hall of Fame, President Andrew Jackson's home, The Hermitage, and ICE at the Grand Ol' Opry Resort.

NIKE TOURNAMENT OF CHAMPS

Christmas in 2009 was spent in Phoenix, Arizona, at the Nike Tournament of Champs, where Georgetown defeated Chandler, Arizona, on the buzzer. The team also travelled the Apache Trail, experiencing Camelback Mountain and an old ghost town in addition to attending a Arizona State Women's Basketball game.

*Reasons why
I'm glad I did!*

- 1 I have more time – instead of cleaning, I can spend time doing the things I want to do.
- 2 They clean my home the way I want – they listen and they care.
- 3 People Notice – my friends and family comment on how fresh and clean my home is.
- 4 No contracts – and they guarantee to put a smile on my face with every cleaning.
- 5 The reputation – Molly Maid has been cleaning homes for over 25 years!

I chose Molly Maid!
